near the North Pole, seen from above (not to scale)

at the pole itself every longitude names the same point